Delhi on hi-tech Road

RH Team/Delhi
When every one is talking about AAP KA STING, we have something sharable with you. Arvind Kejriwal, Chief Minister, Delhi has launched e-Ration card facility and dedicated it to the people of Delhi in a function held in the Auditorium, Delhi Secretariat on March 27, 2015. The function was graced by Shri Manish Sisodia, Deputy Chief Minister, Sh. Gopal Rai, Minister of Transport & Development, Shri Asim Ahmed Khan, Minister of Food Supplies & Consumer Affairs, Shri Manoj Kumar, Parliamentary Secretary to Minister (Food Supplies & Consumer Affairs), Shri K.K. Sharma, Chief Secretary, Delhi, MLAs, Shri Gautam Ghosh, DDG, NIC, Secretaries, Heads of Departments and people in large number. With launch of this facility Delhi has become the first and only State to have such facility, in the country.

Shri Arvind Kejriwal also presented e-Ration cards to some of the beneficiaries present on the occasion. Speaking on the occasion, the CM complemented the efforts of the Minister, and officers of the Department of Food Supplies & Consumer Affairs and NIC for putting in place such an innovative and citizen friendly facility. He said that e-Ration card will bring immense convenience to the people of Delhi as it will cut down the delays in preparation and delivery of ration cards to the beneficiaries. Now the beneficiaries can print the ration card as soon as it is approved by the Department. As soon as the application for providing food security is approved by the Food Supply Officer concerned, a message will go on the mobile number of the beneficiary informing them about approval of the application and ration card.

The beneficiary can go to the portal of the Department <http://nfs.delhi.gov.in> enter the ration card number and other basic information and will be sent a password on their mobile phone. After entry of this password, the e-Ration card will be generated which can be stored in the electronic form and used to get stuff on controlled rate from any ration shop. It can also be printed by the beneficiary from anywhere. Kejriwal also distributed e-Rashan Cards to five consumers of PDS Ms Resma, Madhu, Taslim Jahan, Kamar Jahan on the spot by clicking the mouse. Arvind Kejriwal further said that his government is committed to eradicate corruption in the public distribution system. He further said that the strict action including registration of criminal cases will be taken and no one, indulging in diversion and black marketing of ration, shall be spared. He further said that many more e-governance initiatives will be launched including computerization of all the Fair Price Shops. The Chief Minister recalled his days as an activist, when along with Mr Sisodia and other colleagues, had launched a struggle in 2001 to eradicate ration mafia from parts of Delhi, particularly Sundar Nagri, Nand Nagri, Harsh Vihar and other places. The chief minister said that ration is a right of the poor people and no corruption will be tolerated at all in denying this right to the people. Manish Sisodia, Deputy Chief Minister appreciated the efforts of the Department in making the public distribution transparent and providing the facility to enable people to monitor the functioning of the 70 offices of the Department online. He said that the e-Ration card is unique and to him it is like a long cherished dream of providing ration cards to eligible people in a hassle free manner coming true with this initiative. He said that the Aam Aadmi Party's Government is working hard in the field of e-governance and m-governance and a large number of services will soon be provided at the click of a button through the websites and through mobile phones. Shri Sisodia commending the efforts of the Commissioner, Food and Supply, Shri S. S. Yadav, who also happens to be the Director, Information and Publicity advised him to launch a Publicity Campaign for percolating the message of availing this people friendly, long awaited facility to the common man. Speaking on the occasion Asim Ahmed Khan, minister of Food Supplies & Consumer Affairs thanked the Chief Minister and Deputy Chief Minister for their guidance and support. He said that the Government is aware of the problems being faced by the people in getting ration cards and monthly quota of ration and is taking strict action against people indulging in malpractices. The problems being faced by the people are resolved on priority through multiple channels including the Facebook, Ration Helpline No. 1967, Whatsapp facility by making extensive use of SMS and so on. "I would like to make sure the Hon'ble Chief Minister that we will vigorously pursue our commitment to provide all services in the e-governance mode to the people and with minimum human interface and make the public distribution system very transparent, effective and corruption free," he said. Shri K.K. Sharma, Chief Secretary, Delhi said that he is really delighted that Delhi has become the first in the country today with the launch of e-Ration card facility by the Hon'ble Chief Minister. He further said that Delhi has taken a lead since beginning in implementation of the National Food Security Act and putting in place a robust e-governance system for the same.

SANGEET SAMVATSAR - Magic of Melodious Music

Vilas Janve. Classical Music lovers of Udaipur had a refreshing treat of vocal and instrumental recital on 27th March Night at the auditorium of Rajasthan College of Agriculture. Till late night people enjoyed flute of Pandit Rajendra Prassanna. Shree Sharda Gyan Vardhini Trust, Udaipur organized this musical concert in the fond memory of Late Pandit Krishna Kumar Dehlvi music guru of Udaipur. Many music lovers declared this concert as most memorable programme. Performing artistes rendered best performance compelling for standing ovation. During the first half of Concert, Ustad Afzal Hussain (Aurangabad) presented Dhrupad Gayan (vocal). He started with Raag 'Jog' who skillfully presented Allap, Jod and Jhala followed by composition 'Naad bhed so nyaro' in taal Teevra. His voice modulation showed a great variety with purity. His next composition, 'Shiv Shiv Shiv Shankar' based on Sool Taal in Raag 'Shivranjani' was very impressive and inspiring. He was accompanied on Pakhawaj by Sukhad Munde (Pune) who also received great applause. During the second half Pandit Rahendra Prassanna, noted musician of Benaras Gharana and Professor of Music in National School of Drama, New Delhi rendered flute recital with utter soothing effects. He played raag 'Bageshree' in Vilambit Ek Taal and continued for around 30 minutes giving variations. The mesmerizing sound of flute many times compelled listeners to swing on their seats. Rendering of Raag 'Durga' in Madyalaya Teen taal was equally melodious. Pandit Rajendra Prassanna's Rajasthani 'Maand' followed by 'Ghoomar' tune were special treats. On Tabla player Athar Hussain (Delhi) rendered most appropriate 'sangat'. Many times Pandit ji encouraged him to display his enormous talent and Athar utilized these opportunities intelligently enthralling audience. President of Shree Sharda Gyan Vardhini Trust, Udaipur, Shri Natwar Lal Sharma welcomed guests. Mehndi Sharma while hosting the show gave detailed introduction of artistes in interactive manner.

Raju Srivastava sweeps Udaipur park to propel PMs cleanliness drive

RH Team
Udaipur : Raju Srivastav, fondly known as Gajodhar Bhaiya' among fans, swept a dirty patch of the Hedgewar park here on Wednesday inspiring people to join the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan. The ace comedian is on a special fortnight drive (9-27 March) to spread awareness on the Swachhta mission. Before arriving at Udaipur, he has covered 12 cities including Jabalpur, Jodhpur, Jaipur, Kanpur, Lucknow, Baroda, Ahmedabad, Surat, Rajsamand. Post spinning his magic on the audience Srivastava was nominated as one of the "Nav Ratan" by PM Narendra Modi for the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan. Advocating his vision of a clean and disease free India, Srivastav held a broom in his hand and asked all his fans across the nation to join him in the initiative to keep their cities clean. Speaking to the media persons later, the comedian said "Modi hails from a poor family and earned popularity internationally, after years of struggle. I connect with him for the same reasons of poverty and struggle and felt honored when he entrusted me with the duty to take forward his dream of making a clean and healthy nation. " Its amusing that when Indians go out of the country, do not spit or urinate at public places. They do not violate any rules abroad, however as soon as they are back home, they resume to their old habits which is sickening" Raju stressed. " We need to be the change we want to see, therefore I would request everyone to pick up their broom sticks and do their bit, because every small bit is important and beneficial" he added. " Before rising to glory I had many friends including Tangewallas, Pheriwalas, Autorickshaw drivers but after achieving success, my acquaintance profile changed. However, I still love to go back to my old friends and specially teach them the necessity to keep clean" Srivastava concluded.
