At your doorstep!

Udaipur's fast on the track to go metro. Things are rapidly changing for the good and the new concepts that provide more privileges and comfort are being adopted by the people here. As people are changing, so are things. Ordering a food at home, booking a cab for a ride, and making online reservations for movie are few facilities now Udaipur offers you any time.

Now the number of people who wish to dine outside at least once a week is rising. The generation that hated outside junk food are giving a way to new age eateries and seem interested in trying new varieties. Earlier except newspaper, milk, and laundry were the services which had home deliveries services in Udaipur. Now, pizza, food, vegetables, medicines are few to name facilities that Udaipurites can order through a phone call.

It does not mean that distances have increased in the city but the fact is that people are busier than ever. They try to cut down on time wasted on non-productive activities like fetching milk or vegetables from market. Now when both husband and wife go to office, having returned late from office no one wants to get into kitchen to cook food. They simply dial a number, demand a thaali or anything else in the food and relax. In minutes, hot food comes delivered. This fast spreading trend while is giving people an option to relax and skip cooking any day, it also helps people spend time with family and friends. Ladies who would always be found in kitchen can now relax and discuss things with family or enjoy a movie while food gets delivered. Unlike earlier, the service providers of such facilities have also come up with greater and innovative ideas like smart and sealed packaging and no-delay services. A decade ago you could have not thought of having drinking water delivered at your doorstep and now even people who can afford RO systems are opting for easy packaged water services so that they can save time of cleaning water storage tanks and maintenance of RO systems. Simply pour from bottle through a dispenser and quench your thirst.

No doubt the comfort level is going high and services are being customized to make more money. Providers also try new innovative ways to lure customer and the one fact that differentiates from one provider with the other is level of comfort it provides. One restaurant will serve hot food and hot cases while the other will offer additional spices with the delivery. This way, more employment is being generated as more business is coming.

Overall, life's getting better for everyone and that's the sole way to get better and live better.

IPL, all set to rock the living room

amid all the hue and cry about authenticity of games and serious charges, allegation, and convictions of players and even stakeholders, the IPL is back with a bang to only mark that the show will go on. While the local team has been jolted yet again with allegations on the co-owners of Rajasthan Royals, the all time favourite Chennai super King is under pressure as Dhoni has just returned from a debacle of World Cup. And the Delhi Daredevils is the team that is now hoping to contest with lot of might as they have Yuvraj Singh to back them, the entire stage is set and people have left all the trash of the past in the past including the World Cup 2015 fiasco.

The beauty of this super fast format is that it can be as interesting and thrilling as a feature film at theatre could be. Right from the word go, the adventure begins and doesn't end till the last ball. spectators see new forms of their favorite international players and then amid the crowd of stars, emerge new players who become star in a matter of an inning or a spell.

New records are all set to be created while the old ones will become past. Above all, the new players that get an opportunity to showcase their talent become asset to the country in no time. Today we have a plethora of players who can replace even the established players. So, amid extremely electric ambiance, let's get ready to discover new talent. So, adjust your smart phones, internet subscriptions, and tv packs to ensure the required channels are there, up, and running. See you there!

One app for all your emails, Gmail, Yahoo, Outlook, Hotmail.

No matter how many email addresses you have, a new Gmail app makes it possible to see all your mail accounts (even @yahoo and @outlook) on Gmail itself. The new app, part of an endeavour by Google to be a one-stop email shop, is available for Android devices. The new upgraded Gmail app lets users see mail even from non-Gmail accounts, GMANetwork reported. The upgrade should be convenient for students and workers with multiple email accounts, software engineer Regis Decamps was quoted as saying.

"However many email addresses you have, today's improvements to the Gmail app for Android make it easy to manage all your mail from all your accounts while you're on the go," Decamps said. Also, he said one could view and respond to all emails from other accounts using the "All Inboxes" option -- without having to hop between accounts. Even better, the new app allows threaded conversations even for non-Gmail accounts. This keeps messages organised and gives a user the context needed to reply to long email threads. "Now messages from your Yahoo, Outlook.com and other IMAP/POP accounts will get the same special treatment, appearing neatly stacked as one conversation," The new app also features smarter search and better auto-complete. Other features include larger attachment previews and the ability to save to Drive with a

Akshay's underwater daredevilry on India's Got Talent

Pramod Shrivastava

What do you get when the uber-talented Akshay Kumar and India's sparkling best performers come together on the stage of India's Got Talent? A smashing performance that 'dives' into the 'depths' of entertainment! On the sets of India's Got Talent to promote his upcoming film Gabbar, Akshay 'Khiladi' Kumar provided viewers with the perfect reason to believe that he is indeed the unprecedented daredevil in Bollywood. And how did he do that, you ask? He joined 19-year-old swimmer and dancer, a talented contestant Jaydeep in a water tank for a unique one-of-its-kind dance performance. Conceptualized and mastered by Jaydeep over the past 2-3 years, Jaydeep's underwater dance performance was inspirational to say the least. And watching his outstanding performance left Akshay not only curious about his talent, but also motivated to give it a shot himself to learn something new. The final nudge came from judges Kirron Kher, Karan Johar and Malaika Arora Khan who coaxed him to dive into the massive 7 ft tank of water without a second thought about his outfit. Imagine the joy and excitement that soared in Jaydeep's mind when he saw his favourite actor willing to take the plunge with him! Literally! And their performance was one to behold! From the iconic Chinta Ta Ta moves to the groovy signature dance steps emulated by Elvis Presley and a dramatic 360-degree twirl inside the tank among many more, Jaydeep shared the tricks of his trade and Akshay lapped it all up like an eager-to-learn student. Submerged in water for over 15 minutes, Akshay Kumar had a phenomenal time while giving Jaydeep full credit for teaching him a new stunt. And as Akshay, the student, finally stepped out of the tank, judge Karan Johar was quick to applaud Akshay for being a sport and displaying his appealing X-Factor at every opportunity given to him! And what did Akshay Kumar have to say about his performance you wonder? Akshay revealed that his love for adventure was deep-rooted in his mind ever since he was a little child. He further said that he is happy to be a part of the film industry because it gives him the opportunity to explore and indulge in every thought that has raided his mind as a child. In fact, Akshay divulged that even after all these years in the industry, he continues to remain greedy and seeks opportunities permitting him to do something different, something extraordinary. Applauding Jaydeep's astounding act, Akshay said, 'Isne toh Gabbar ko bhi paani paani kar diya!'
