The Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi, on Saturday invoked the poetry of Gurudev Rabindranath Tagore to state that the poor do not need support (sahaara), but strength (shakti). He was speaking at the launch of three social security schemes: Pradhan Mantri Suraksha Bima Yojana, Pradhan Mantri Jeevan Jyoti Bima Yojana, and Atal Pension Yojana, in Kolkata today. The schemes were launched in simultaneous functions at 115 venues across the country.

"It is not my prayer that you will save me from difficulties. Give me the strength to overcome the difficulty. Do not take away my burdens or console me. Give me the capacity to bear my burden," the Prime Minister said, quoting from Gurudev Rabindranath Tagore.

The Prime Minister said Kolkata had been chosen for the launch of these schemes because, to quote Shri Gopal Krishna Gokhale, "what Bengal thinks today, India thinks tomorrow."

The Prime Minister said that it was indeed a matter of great pain that 80 to 90 per cent of the people in India do not have access to insurance and pension. He said that the fruits of development must reach the poorest of the poor, and therefore, the Union Government had launched the Pradhan Mantri Jan Dhan Yojana under which 15 lakh accounts had been opened. Now, he added, Jan Dhan was being taken a step forward to Jan Suraksha with the launch of these social security schemes. He said Jan Dhan Yojana helped bank the unbanked, Mudra Bank would help fund the unfunded, and these schemes would help secure the unsecured. He said the schemes had been launched on trial basis since May 1st, 2015, and 5 crore, 5 lakh people had enrolled for them so far.

The Governor of West Bengal Shri Keshrinath Tripathi, The Chief Minister of West Bengal Ms. Mamata Banerjee, and Union Ministers Shri Jayant Sinha and Shri Babul Supriyo were present on the occasion. Meet Nitesh Salvi of Udaipur for creating a company valued at 50 crores

He explains his journey in his own words

In India, every parent wants their child to be an engineer or doctor, but if you say you want to be an entrepreneur at the tender age of 20, you are sure to get a whop, a spank, and plenty of other unappetizing reactions.

Nitesh Salvi, Co-founder and Director Plancess EduSolutions Pvt Ltd. breaking all the stereotypes and old school mindsets proved that entrepreneurship has nothing to do with maturity. In the age where other chaps of his age were busy holidaying, hanging out or attending placement sessions, a little something came to this bright lad. He went ahead and laid the foundation of Plancess EduSolutions - India's first and largest education content delivery company, and in just four years he became the inspiring figure for all aspiring entrepreneurs.

Read on to know the success story of this young and dynamic entrepreneur - his family and educational background, struggles, triumphs, vision and mission etc.

Hailing from Katarwas (Kherwada), Nitesh Salvi was raised in Udaipur, Rajasthan. Born in a family of engineers, Nitesh's father N.L. Salvi is Superintendent Engineer in Ajmer Vidhyut Vitran Nigam Limited (AVVNL) and mother Mani Salvi a homemaker.

A proud owner of country's leading education content delivery company, Nitesh completed his schooling in vernacular medium from Vidyaniketan.

Right from the start of his academics, Nitesh was a bright student and was always in the list of toppers in his school, but he always dreamt of being a cricketer. But his father (being an engineer) wanted him to follow his dream of joining the country's elite Indian Institute of Technology, Bombay (IIT-B); and who knew an average looking boy from a mediocre family could redefine the way lakhs of candidates prepare for India's toughest engineering entrance exam - IIT JEE. But, he did it!

It is rightly said by Rashmi Bansal in her book TAKE ME HOME - "The ability to start and run a professional business is no longer limited by location. What you need is a vision and a mission and a burning desire. To 'make it happen,' wherever you go."

Nitesh began preparing for JEE from Class 8th and feels every student aiming that most coveted seat in the IITs should start at the same time.

Triggered by the unavailability of proper formula for JEE preparation, Nitesh along with his two college friends Vivek Gupta and Mirik Gogri led the foundation of Formula Bank in 2010 from Hostel 4, IIT Bombay Canteen. While working on this model, Nitesh also thought of creating a comprehensive platform that will act as one stop solution for all JEE queries. His thought came to be known as Plancess EduSolutions Pvt Ltd. The idea was a huge hit, and that's concluded by the fact that without making a product, just based on an idea, Salvi and his friends raised an initial funding of 1 crore.

Apart from the three key people, brand Plancess is nourished by Top 100 JEE Rankers who have put in their knowledge and expertise to create comprehensive JEE preparation material. Commenced with the DVD model, the company has gradually entered into the digital arena, offering students JEE Study Material, Video Lectures and Test Series all pre-loaded in Samsung Tablets.

The company today is valued at 50 crores and has been successful in getting decent round of funding from industry stalwarts.

Nitesh Salvi, an entrepreneur by choice aspires to create a billion dollar (6500 crore) business and is bullish about it. In the long run, he sees Plancess to be a comprehensive educational conglomerate catering to a major chunk of student fraternity.

Nitesh strongly believes that to be a good entrepreneur it is mandatory to be a good human being, apart from the business vision he has a dream of having his own non-profit social firm that would cater to the growth of rural India. He believes that, the real Indian talent is still unexplored and needs significant effort to explore the real talent of India. With this initiative he also aspires to guide deserving students to find an appropriate path in life or helping them in creating their path, as he did.

As the Co-founder and Director of Plancess, Nitesh is behind the wheels of the company guiding every team under the roof to success.

Branding for govt. schools

Education system needs a upside down change and now the need is being felt. Government schools always stand in contrast with their private counterparts. The irony is that government pays much more salary to government school teachers than what the private school teachers get but still the results are reverse. Now, government has decided to take on this difference and has asked teachers to do some branding of their schools. Obviously to present a brand, you will need merits and education of that school. And here lies the idea to innovate schooling in government schools.

According to the plan, on the pattern of private schools, government school teachers will organize Mohalla Meetings and will do door to door campaign and apprise parents of achievements of their school.

Publicity hoarding will also be put at major places of the city and pamphlets will be distributed as well. The education department has already prepared a proforma for this. All this will begin with the Preveshotsav, the celebration of admission in schools that begins on Monday, May 11.

Apart from education, other facilities like mid-day meal, laptop, and cycle distribution will also be advertised properly. The department is aiming at an overwhelming response on admissions and government is confident to achieve better stats this session.

Hunger over will be delivering food from 7 PM to 5AM. So that means your parties will never end Now Udaipurites don't need to limit themselves to just midnight Poha as now you can enjoy delicious food Like Pasta, Kathi rolls all delivered at your door step within 30-45 minutes of placing your order.

The service is started by 3 young entrepreneurs out of their own frustration of not able to find food after 11 PM.

In their own words here is the story of how Hunger over started: "On the late night meetups whenever I asked Amit "Do we have anything to eat, I am starving" his only answer was "let's move to the highway". Initially it was fun, but then we realized it's very risky to drive to highway at late night not to say food was not that good. So we decided to solve our own problem, hence hunger over was born that night. We feel that Over the years everything in Udaipur has improved except the night life. Everyday hundreds of students/tourists roam in search of food after 11 PM. The only option they are left with is to eat at some dhaba on highway or have Poha".
