Children Theater Workshop makes vacations purposeful...

As the summer vacation starts, Lake city offers many activities for the children. Popular Cultural, Sports, Social and Educational institutions even the media also organize a number of events for Children. After retirement from West Zone Cultural Centre, Udaipur, this was the first summer vacation which I could utilize by holding a thematic theater workshop for children. With the help of Central Public School, Udaipur and under the banner of Martand Foundation, I started this month long theater workshop for children, 16 children of the age 8 years to 16 years are taking keen interest in all the activities designed for this production oriented workshop.

The workshop aims to hone creative pursuits in children. Share basic elements of theater. Encourage children to write script for short plays, prepare and present performance through team work. Emphasis is being given on enhancement of Concentration, Observation, Creativity, Discipline and Self Confidence amongst participating Children.

I believe that theater is the only performing art form which has power to change thoughts and educate people while providing healthy entertainment. Many social issues are being discussed with these young participants. During the theatrical exercises, Children are not only enhancing their skills but also encouraged by infusing positive thinking.

Experienced professionals are interacting and sharing their knowledge in the field of voice modulation, mime and movements, Yoga, poetry, script writing, back stage works (make up, costume, masks, stage crafts, sound effects), Music and Dance. Children are preparing two short plays and two mimes. All the children are involved in one or another thing. They will be presenting their talent on 15th June at Central Public School.
