

Education Refines Your Sense of Relationship

Another relationship piece to my dear readers.

My father would tell me that as you grow and become learned your surround refines. According to him education is a filter that sieves your surroundings and gives you the most refined relationships.

Himani Khanna

A bunch of people in your school or college is not what you call intensity. They are just acquaintances. The real relationship has compatibility in terms of likes and dislikes.

Suppose you love to sing or write, you will always love to have a company that has the same likings. When you write, your partner reads. When you are humming, your partner accompanies.

The more you learn the more you get to know yourself better and that is how you know what is meant for you. Education is not only about building a good career; it also teaches us patience and sense in relationships.

This Year I Will be AWESOME - Resolutions on New Year 2017

Dr.Mehzbeen Sadriwala

New Year is the time at which a new calendar year begins and the calendar's year count increments by one.

Some take it seriously. Some bid it farewell just after the clock strikes twelve. Some call it a Second Chance to Dream with Eyes Open. New Year Resolution - no one can deny having made some.

People change with time, so do their aspirations. Seriously taken, Happy New Year Resolution is an opportunity to gauge our goals. For the adventurous souls, it is the opportunity to tickle a funny bone or to try something bold.

Look Where You Stand-Made loads of resolutions last New Year's Eve? Accessed how far you have stood by them? If not, it is time you did.

Accomplish the Incomplete-

If you still feel that the resolutions you made last year and abandoned midway are worth a second shot, give it another chance!

Realistic Resolutions- Instead of weaving dreams in the air, make a resolution that would have significance in and add a meaning to your life.

Monitor Progress- Resolve this year to monitor how far you are holding on to your commitment - it will help you to hang on. Soak up New Skill - Learning something new and interesting is always fun and a value addition too.

Healthy Hoggin- Think before you put any morsel in your mouth. Occasional indulgence should be there.

Lose the Loan- Pay off any debt you may have and feel light at heart.

Sack Stress- This sounds easier than it actually is, and there is no magic tip. You have to find your own haven.

Contribute for a Cause - Giving back to the society is the least we can do to make the world a better place to live in.

Wreck a Record- This does not necessarily have to be a world record. It could be your own set standards - getting better grades in school, saving more than last year - anything.

Relive your childhood- Bring back the simplicity in life - dance in the rain, jump in a puddle, lick a Popsicle - just be carefree.

Spice up the Mundane- Bring some sizzle to your daily life. Plan a candlelight dinner. Bring some fresh flowers to your bedroom. This will make life seem more beautiful.

Unleash the Angel in You- Nothing feels better than seeing a smile on someone. Do your bit to stand by people who need support. Every little help matters.

Pamper yourself once in a while - You deserve it - do whatever your heart desires - but remember not to go overboard.

Enrich your vocabulary- Communication is vital in any sphere of life - enrich your vocabulary to master the art of reaching out.

Overcome a fear or mental block - This will make you feel liberated - it will free your mind of shackles.

Be sincere about punctuality and commitments- This is a resolution, if followed, would help you succeed in life and be respected too.

The most common reason for participants failing their New Years' Resolutions was setting themselves unrealistic goals (35%), while 33% didn't keep track of their progress and a further 23% forgot about it.

About one in 10 respondents claimed they made too many resolutions.
