

Himalaya's 'My Baby & Me' reaches Udaipur

Udaipur: As part of Himalaya's efforts to deepen engagement between doctors and mothers, the company's baby care division held an interactive session for mothers in Udaipur.

Talking about the initiative, Mr. Chakravarthi, General Manager - Himalaya Baby Care said, "The initiative 'My Baby & Me' is a platform for mothers to engage in discussions with doctors and other mums, and to address their own health issues as well as concerns about their baby's health. Parents often have a lot of queries pertaining to child's health, sleep patterns, baby massage and generally struggle to find credible answer which are evidence based. The program has been very well received by doctors and mothers, and we are excited to bring it to Udaipur where the acceptance and understanding of Ayurveda is high."

Chakravarthi further added that it is equally important for parents to consult their doctors when it comes to choosing personal care products for their babies.

During the event, over fifty participating mothers were addressed by Dr. Devendra Sarin renowned Consultant Pediatrician and Child Specialist, "Parenting is an overwhelming experience, but the real test for mothers begins after the baby is born! Regular health checkups and immunization is the best way to protect your child. It is also important for mothers to acknowledge child's overall development and health concerns such as feeding, stages of motor development, diapering, rash and allergies. Today, Ayurveda has bestowed several safe and effective health solutions for both mother and her baby which people are still unaware of" opined Dr. Sarin

He further elaborated on the importance of baby massage for healthy growth of the child. "Regular oil massage fortifies and regulates the respiratory, digestive and circulatory system of the baby and protects the skin against dryness. Massage plays an important role in the growth and development of baby's bones."

Himalaya's 'My Baby & Me' program has travelled to Ahmedabad, Agra, Bangalore, Chandigarh, Lucknow, Ludhiana, Bhopal, Guwahati, Indore, Jaipur, Kochi, Madurai, Surat, Vadodara, Mangalore, Mysore, Varanasi and Vijayawada.

3rd International Conference on Living Heritage in Udaipur

Udaipur : "The government needs to introduce heritage education in school curricula," said Mr Vinay Sheel Oberoi, IAS, Education Secretary in the Ministry of Human Resource Development, Department of Higher Education, Government of India. He was the chief guest at the inaugural session of the 3rd International Conference on Living Heritage, organized by the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation with the support of UNESCO New Delhi Office and Dronah Foundation, Gurgaon, at the Sabhagaar Conference Hall, Fateh Prakash Palace Convention Centre. Mr Oberoi said, "Living heritage is linking our past with the present and has the power to shape the future." He appreciated the work on heritage preservation at Udaipur's City Palace Museum.

The inaugural session of the conference witnessed the participation of His Excellency The Ambassador of France to India Mr Francois Richier, Mr Jean d'Haussonville, the General Manager of Domaine national de Chambord, Mr Sabhyasachi Mukherjee Director General and Secretary, Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Vastu Sangrahalaya, Mumbai, Shriji Arvind Singh Mewar, Chairman and Managing Trustee of the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation and Mr Lakshyaraj Singh Mewar, Trustee of the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation.

The Ambassador of France to India Mr Francois Richier highlighted the numerous projects being undertaken by the French Embassy to help preserve heritage across India. "We will bring senior conservation architects from France to help the heritage preservation projects in Lucknow, Pondicherry," he said. The Ambassador was satisfied with the progress on the partnership agreement between Domaine national de Chambord in France and the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation, Udaipur.

Mr Jean d'Haussonville, the General Manager of Domaine national de Chambord, said in his address, "Chambord and City Palace, Udaipur have many common characteristics and features. Both were established in the 16th century and have demonstrated perpetual renewal." Chambord is regarded as the 'Mona Lisa of architecture' and a shining example of Renaissance genius. "Just as the City Palace of Udaipur works for sustainable development, Chambord too believes in these modern practices to preserve its heritage," he said.

Mr Sabhyasachi Mukherjee, Director General and Secretary, Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Vastu Sangrahalaya, Mumbai delivered the keynote address.

"Even after eight decades of Independence in India, we have not been able to give our 'culture' its due importance and priority," he said, adding "Our identities are based on our culture but the budgetary allocations of the government for culture and cultural institutions are miniscule."

In his welcome address, Shriji Arvind Singh Mewar, Chairman and Managing Trustee of the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation, thanked the dignitaries for being in Udaipur and acknowledging the power of 'living heritage' to unite people and nations together. "Our city is over 450 years old; the City Palace Museum has crossed 45 years.

To state that there is tremendous potential in their development is to state the obvious. I can see an all-round development of Udaipur as a destination for not just tourism but education, the performing arts, spirituality and sports: A veritable power-house for our time and age."

Mr Lakshyaraj Singh Mewar, Trustee of the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation, said, "Let us involve the youth of our countries in several activities and programmes of living heritage.

They must be awarded fellowships and scholarships to understand the values and power of living heritage." Mr Lakshyaraj was the signatory, on behalf of the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation, to the partnership agreement with Domaine national de Chambord signed in April 2015.

Vote of thanks was given by Ms. Vrinda Rajee Singh, Coordinator of World Living Heritage Festival 2016 and Master of Ceremony was Mr. Raju Mansukhani.

Being held at The Fateh Prakash Palace Convention Centre, the 3rd International Conference is being attended by leading dignitaries drawn from UNESCO New Delhi Office, Central and State governments, NGOs, universities, Udaipur Municipal Corporation, industry bodies besides academicians, researchers, students and activists.

The Conference will explore and advance in the understanding of various approaches towards the promotion of living heritage and its integration in urban space and structures.

Rain harvesting will change the face of Udaipur

Mukhyamantri's Jal Swavlamban Abhiyan

Udaipur: (Hritu Sodhi) Udaipur is world famous for its lakes and scenic beauty. Despite of heavy rains people of Udaipur face water shortage every year. The water flowing out of the hills goes completely waste every year. This effects the whole eco system and greenery disappears as soon as the climate changes after monsoon.

But this year Rajasthan Government's Mukhyamantri's Jal Swavlamban Abhiyan would change the whole scenario. Each and every river, pond and valleys will attain self-sufficiency in terms of water storage.

All villages will have plenty of water to fulfill the requirements of villagers and their farms. Trenches are being made on hills to prevent water wastage this year. These trenches will help to maintain greenery on hill lands.

Small water bodies are created everywhere in Udaipur district to stop the velocity of water. Public is actively taking part in Mukhyamantri's Jal Swavlamban Abhiyan in every village. Villager's enthusiasm and zeal ripped off mountain rocks in minutes and changed the face of their areas.

Army, police and administration are selflessly doing all efforts and are determined to solve water shortage problem this year.

Ground water would be restored and plenty of water would be there for our district. Udaipur district would be on top in this campaign
