Festival of Gangaur:

Udaipur : Gangaur festival is celebrated in many parts of India but it is one of the most colorful festivals of Rajasthan. Gangaur is a celebration of perfect marriage between Lord Shiva and Goddess Parvati. The name itself is a symbolic union of Gan, that is Lord Shiva and Gauri for Goddess Parvati.

This festival is held in the month of Chaitra as per Hindu calendar. The festival rituals commence the day after Holi. All married girls do puja in the first year of their marriage. It starts from the day of holika dehan and continues from 16 to 18 days. In this festival ladies pray for the well being and good health of their husbands. Unmarried girls worship Lord Shiva to get husbands of their choice. This festival has a lot of religious importance in Rajasthan as Lord Shiva and Parvati are symbols of pure and connubial love.

Females collect ash from Holika dehan and bury the seeds of wheat and Barley in it. They protect these seeds by watering till the seeds germinate. Women also made clay images of Shiva and Parvati. Along side 16 balls made from roli, kajal and mehendi are made and kept for pooja. These things are kept in an earthen pot with lamps inside. Women keep this pot on their heads on the day of procession.

They sing folk songs related to Gangaur. In some parts of India newly married girls keep fast and offer poori with a hole to Sun God. They used to look at the Sun with this poori. This ritual is carried out with utmost care without exposing the poori to direct sunlight. This is done only on Sunday. Females eat food only one time without salt during this festival. Females decorate their hands and feet by drawing designs with mehendi.

"A National task force need to be constituted"

New Delhi : Rajasthan Chief Minister Smt. Vasundhara Raje has said that states need to be sensitive towards the essential requirements of its neighbouring states and drinking water is one such requirement. She urged the Govt. of India to act as an adjudicator in matters of interstate sharing of water and suggested that there should be a National Task Force to share information regarding water.

Smt. Raje was addressing the valedictory session of 'India Water Week 2016' at Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi on Friday. The Chief Minister said with increasing uncertainty regarding our ecological future, we need to match our cropping patterns to agro-climatic conditions. She said keeping in view the special conditions in Rajasthan regarding water, special dispensations should be made. Hence, it is time that the 'one size fits all' approach is replaced by schemes, tailor made to our requirements. Operational flexibility of schemes should be given to the states, she added.

Smt. Raje said drought is a part of Rajasthan's existence. Since 1949, there have been only 6 years when Rajasthan did not face drought like conditions in full or in part. She said Rajasthan's experience in managing water holds lessons for the entire country. It is in the interest of other states to learn from Rajasthan's experience in the intensive treatment of micro watersheds.

The Chief Minister said IGNP

Canal system was planned for transforming the desert. However, what was not planned for is the acute unavailability of water from the Rabi-Beas river systems. Today, those living at the tail end of the canal system are hard pressed to receive water for irrigation. The old, unlined canals lose significant water as seepage and this translates into large tracts of arable lands lost to water logging, she said.

Smt. Raje said we need to appreciate that water as a resource is finite. It is such understanding that has helped us re-draw our strategies in water management. We have set up in Rajasthan the Rajasthan River Basin & Water Resources Planning Authority. This authority is looking at all aspects of water management. Under the 4 water concept which we have adopted efforts are being made for holistic management of the 4 waters - rain water, surface water, ground water and soil moisture. Our understanding is that if these river basins can be rejuvenated, as a next step, we would like to work on connecting basins for inter-basin transfer of water, and hopefully, a drinking water grid, she said.

The Chief Minister said 'Mukhyamantri Jal Swavlamban Abhiyan' taken up in Rajasthan is a unique and successful programme ensuring participation of different wings of the government, civil society, businesses houses and citizens for conservation of water.

Nav Samvatsar Celebrations in Udaipur

Udaipur : The welcome to the new year of Hindu Calendar as usual was done in majestic style in Udaipur. Various agencies came forward and in each other's association, the program proved to be a big hit. The ten day long program begun with Kalash Poojan and Shankhnaad in the Shri Ram temple of Alok school. Mayor of the city Chandra Singh Kothari graced the occasion as special guest.

Main programs were organized between April 6 and 8. Dr. Kumawat, who was presiding over the program said that Udaipur is now a smart city and a new program about youngster's fitness had been inducted in which cyclists rode from Fatehsagar to Mahakaleshwar temple with the chants of Bharat Mata ki Jai. The idea was to invoke the patriotism in youth.

The cycling that was organized on April 2 saw a great zeal among people of all walks of life. Shiva Shakti Aarti was main attraction which immersed the audience into devotion. Coordinator Shashank Tank apprised that a CD having Bharat Mata ki Aarti was released. The Aarti in the CD was penned by Dr. Pradeep Kumawat while tune was developed by Manmohan Bhatnagar. Anuradha Khikholia and Aditya Khatri have given vocals to the devotional Aarti.

Programs on April 4 were mainly devotional in which the emphasis was laid on woman empowerment. April 6 proved to be a healthy yet funny day as various types of laughter were presented for the people. Dr. Kumawat himself demonstrated radiant laugh, argument laugh, anger laugh, and shake hand laugh among others.

April 7 saw the procession of Jyoti Kalash in which processions came from Shri Nathdwara, Ghasiyar, Bajinath, and Bohra Ganesh ji respectively and converged at Hathipole. It got converted into Sapt Jyoti Yatra at Jagdish chowk from where the procession reached at Gangaur Ghat.

The evening saw an adieu to 2016 and welcome of 2017 was performed amid burst of firecrackers.
