By the Way : Be you!

It's great to be like any famous personality but it would be awesome if you try not to copy others. People spent hours to please others. In this process they lose their original personalities. Uniqueness is God's gift but human beings don't appreciate their qualities. They easily find faults in their lives and try to compare each and everything with others. It's hard to make them realise their own qualities. Reema has a beautiful daughter. But Reema wanted to have a male child. She always ignores her daughter's qualities and misbehaves with her. Her husband has completely failed to make her realise the importance of a daughter. Now she has become a mental patient who consumes sleeping pills to relax her mind.

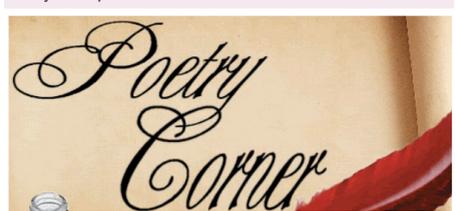

World is full of people who are dissatisfied with themselves. It reminds me of an old story which my mother told me in childhood that once all flowers were fighting over an issue. They wanted to show their superiority. Rose, lotus, orchid, lily and many other flowers wanted to know the name of the best flower. No body wanted to give up the battle. At last God interrupted and told each one of them to show their qualities and defects. After long discussion each flower understood that all were unique and can't be declared best or worst. Roses are beautiful but they have thorns, lotus is beautiful but it blooms in muddy water.

Every human being is born with different properties. It is pointless to compare yourself with others. It can harm your progress. Jealousy and ego are human traits but it would harm your foot only if you try to wear other person's shoes. Kamal works in an office. He has become a manager after 5 years of efforts. But he has become so insecure in these years that he always tries to feed bad words to his CEO about other employees. He doesn't understand the value of team work. After few years he will lose his job to some new employee. Nothing is permanent in corporate world. It's always good to show your abilities by working hard rather than putting blames on others. Show your skills to the world. It can be done only when you learn to be you.

Be you!
It would really help you to grow and expand your soul. Being you is important as it is original and better than a copy. Standing out of the crowd is being you, so stop fitting in something which ain't your cup of tea.

Humdum ...

Tumhi haqiqat ho
Tumhi mere khwaab
Tumhi se din
aur
Tumhi se raat
Tumhi mere dost ho tumhi humsafar
Tumhi meri soch
Aur tumhi mere jazbaat
Ik din ye pyaar itna gehra ho jaayega
Saanson ki Khushbu bankar dil mein utar jaayega
Pyaari si dosti ka mukaam itna khoobsurat ban jaayega
Zindagi aur bhi khoobsurat hogi
rahega jab tumhare haatho mein mera haath
Thehar gya tha wo Khushi ka pal Wahi
Tham gya tha waqt bhi wahi kahin
Jab sang the tum aur thi taaron ki baaraat
Aur bhi khoobsurat ho gya tha wo lamha
Jab bataai thi tumhe ye dil ki baat
Chalta rahe ye khusnuma safar yun hi
Aur hardum rahe humdum tumhaara saath
Rahe ik doosre k humraaz hum
Yun hi beete bas ye din aur ye raat

Provide Subsidy for Rain water Harvesting like Solar Plants

In last few days ago the state government issued an advertisement that it will provide 30 % subsidy for those who install solar plants for production of electricity on their roofs. definitely this will mitigate the availability of electricity in the state. The state government should also provide such subsidy for those installing Roof Top Rain Water harvesting on their buildings as this act will also increase the falling underground water level in the state & enhance the availability of the water & improve the quality of water to this water starved state.

Announcement during this monsoon will motivate many to save this rain water. Delhi Government is already giving 50 % subsidy for this purpose since last ten years. The same can be distributed through local self bodies in the state. other wise the RAIN water will go to DRAIN as it is going every year.

On Sunday to remove the floating waste and aquatic weeds from the lakes

Udaipur: (Anil Mehta) Lake volunteers of Udaipur met on Sunday to remove the floating waste and aquatic weeds from the lakes. The voluntary action was jointly organised by Jheel Mitra Sansthan, Jheel Sanrakshan Samiti and Gandhi Manav Kalyan Samiti.

On this occasion, lake lovers expressed serious concerns about eco system health of the lakes. Dr. Anil Mehta, Tej Shankar Paliwal and Nand Kishore Sharma stated that there is severe soil erosion in the catchment of the lakes.

The earthy colour of river Sisarna entering into lake pichhola indicates degraded condition of the catchment of the lakes; and substantiate the fact that nothing substantial has been done under catchment treatment measures of NLCP lake conservation project.

They suggested that there should be systems of silt observation post (SOP) and discharge measurement mechanism to observe the quantum of water and silt entering into the lakes. Such systems are necessary to understand the hydrological parameters of the lakes, necessary to design and implement the conservation measures. The lake volunteers expressed the need of regular analysis of chemical and biological composition of silt.

The agriculture runoff contains heavy doses of dangerous pesticides and herbicides and pose serious threat to human life. It is unfortunate that in the catchment of lakes, there is uncontrolled application of pesticides, insecticides and herbicides. These chemical compounds are washed through rain water and flow to the lakes. The situation is further worsening as, under the pressure of land mafia, the submergence area of lakes are being reduced.

Lake lovers informed that this is happening throughout the Rajasthan resulting in destruction of ecologically important shore line area of lakes. The volunteers demanded that the Government should demarcate all lakes of Rajasthan, including Udaisagar on MWL criteria; and should not surrender to any ill demand of reducing the lake original boundaries.
