Three-phase elections for gram panchayats in state

SEC speaks Elections of 9,171 sarpanches will be done through electronic voting machines

Jaipur: The State Election Commission (SEC) on Thursday announced a three-phase schedule for the election of sarpanch and panch in 9,171 gram panchayats of Rajasthan.

State election commissioner PC Mehra said elections of 9,171 sarpanches will be done through electronic voting machines (EVMs) and that of 90,400 ward panches will be done by ballot papers.

The final electoral rolls for these elections will be published on January 3 and kept at panchayat samiti and gram panchayat headquarters for free inspection. However, names can be added, deleted and modified until the date of notification.

Mehra said notification for the first phase will be issued on January 7 and voting will be done on January 17. For the second phase, the notification will be issued on January 11 and voting will take place on January 22. Notification for the third phase will be issued on January 18 and voting will be done on January 29. Counting will be done on the voting days itself after voting ends at 5pm, he added. Election for up-sarpanches will be held the next day - on January 18, 23 and 30, respectively.

Around 65,000 staff will be required for conduct of these elections, Mehra said. Each district will have an observer to supervise and ensure implementation of model code of conduct. "One or two senior IAS or RAS officers will be posted in each district as observers," he said.

Election control rooms will be set up at district and divisional headquarters, he added. According to the draft electoral rolls published on December 4, 30.8 million voters are eligible to cast their vote for sarpanch and panch. People turning 18 on January 1, 2020, can get their names added to the list, Mehra said.

The final list will be published on January 3, he added. Names added after this and before notification will be published in supplementary list.

The SEC said the limit of expenditure on campaigning has been increased from ₹20,000 in 2014 to ₹50,000 now. Candidates can spend this amount on loudspeakers, cut-outs, hoarding, posters and banners.

"They will have to submit bills with the district electoral officer or his nominee within 15 days of announcement of results," he said.

The state government created some new gram panchayats this year through three notifications - on November 15, 16 and 23, and December 1. However, the Rajasthan High Court cancelled the notification of December 1 on December 13. Following this, the state election commission decided to divide gram panchayats in two categories - one affected by the November 15, 16 and 23 notifications, and the other, unaffected by them.

The election schedule announced on Thursday is for the second category of gram panchayats.

State to soon get medical colleges in each district

Final 2 Proposals for colleges in Rajsamand and Pratapgarh will be sent to the Centre next week

Jaipur: Rajasthan aims to become the first state in the country to have a medical college in each of its 33 districts.

With 31 districts covered, proposals for Rajsamand and Pratapgarh will be sent to the centre next week for sanction, Medical Education secretary Vaibhav Galriya said.

Chief minister Ashok Gehlot has on several occasions stated that he wants Rajasthan to be the number one state in healthcare. Health minister Raghu Sharma has also directed officials to take the task of setting up medical colleges seriously.

Galriya said the state has 31 medical colleges in 30 districts, with two in Jaipur. Sanction has also been given for a medical college in Jalore and now only Rajsamand and Pratapgarh districts are left.

He said chief secretary DB Gupta has held discussions with officials of the health department and asked them to prepare a report for colleges in the two districts. The proposals will be sent to the centre by next week, he said. "The setting up of new medical colleges will help overcome the shortage of human resources and improve the quality of health care available in the state," said Galriya. He said that with medical colleges, better health facilities will be available to rural population.

"Things we take for granted such as cardiologists we take for granted in cities are still not available in rural areas. We want to provide these facilities in villages too." The colleges are each with 300 bed strength and the centre has sanctioned Rs325 crore per college which will be shared 60-40 between the state and centre. Galriya said the state government too has committed its share of the funds. He said the centre will give around Rs 2500 crore and the state's contribution would be to the tune of Rs 1000 crore. Rajasthan had seven medical colleges till 2014. In 2018, the Medical Council of India (MCI) gave approval to five medical colleges in Pali, Bharatpur, Bhilwara, Churu and Dungarpur after inspection. In May 2019, the MCI gave approval to the medical colleges in Barmer and Dholpur. In September, sanction was given for 10 colleges to come up in Alwar, Jaisalmer, Banswara, Nagaur, Chittorgarh, Bundi, Sirohi, Karauli, Baran and Sriganganagar. After that another seven medical colleges have been approved for the state, taking the total number to 31.
