Overseas Rajasthanis celebrate Independence Day with Rajasthan Foundation

New Delhi: when the whole country is celebrating Independence Day with joy, Rajasthan Foundation celebrated this holy day with the migrant Rajasthanis settled in the country and the world. Rajasthan Foundation organized a salute program for the freedom fighters of Rajasthan on the Zoom online platform. At the beginning of the program, Shri Dheeraj Shrivastava, Commissioner of Rajasthan Foundation, welcomed all the migrant Rajasthanis connected on Zoom and made the migrant Rajasthanis aware of the journey of the development of Rajasthan since independence till now. Shri Dheeraj said that today Rajasthan is flourishing in every field of action; migrant Rajasthanis can play an essential role in all development works. This contribution will be an authentic tribute to their ancestors and freedom fighters.

In the program, Dr. Mahendra Khadkawati, Director of the Archives of Rajasthan, highlighted the contribution of the freedom fighters of Rajasthan in the freedom movement. He said that despite the problematic geographical conditions of Rajasthan, the Ranbankurs put their lives at stake to fulfill the dream of India's independence. They played an important role. He said that the Rajasthan Archives has digitized crores of manuscripts so that the coming generations can quickly get information about our glorious history.

Dr. Gajadan Charan "Shaktisut," Associate Professor of Sujangarh Mahavidyalaya, forced the migrants to moisten their eyes through the dingle songs of poets of the freedom movement and Rajasthani folk songs full of heroic rasa in the program. He said that the Rajasthani language had given sanskaras of valor to Hindi. This language needs constitutional recognition today so that we can preserve our precious linguistic history.

In the program, expatriates from different parts of the world, including Dubai, Germany, America, Egypt, and Kenya, shared their emotional experiences with everyone, praised the program, and said that due to such programs, the migrant Rajasthanis settled abroad with their soil. Feel your belongingness, and such programs should be organized continuously.

At the end of the program, Dheeraj Shrivastava, Commissioner, Foundation, thanked all the participants, including General Manager Nidhi Sen and a team of Rajasthan Foundation. The program was conducted by Professor Deepti, a migrant Rajasthani from Egypt.

Shalimar Productions to launch its OTT platform 'NJOYMAX' : Tilok Kothari

Shalimar Productions Ltd has announced that the company is to launch its OTT platform - "NJOYMAX soon." Through this platform, Shalimar looks to bring a variety of family-friendly mainstream & regional media content directly to the consumers. Managing Director Tilok

Kothari gave this information. He said, 'Company has exciting plans for NJOYMAX as a platform for secure content delivery and has chalked out plans to include off-beat, multi-lingual, mythological & experiential media content for consumers to experience directly.'

He also said, 'Initially, the application will be available only on Android mobile devices & tablets. NJOYMAX app will further come to iOS later this year.' The development of a Web-browser-based platform for NJOYMAX is also underway & it will be introduced shortly after the Android App's Launch. While Executive Director Kiran Shergill said, 'The Company will initially tie-up with vendors for media content for its App & plans to grow its content library gradually. While the Company library is being expanded & curated, NJOYMAX will be available Completely Free of Cost for a Limited Time.'

India is currently the fastest-growing OTT market in the world. Video on demand through OTT is expected to replace the traditional platforms, namely radio, cable, cinemas & theatres. The current pandemic situation has only accelerated the disruption & made the process achievable rather sooner. RBAA Advisors' study shows that Indian OTT space is expected to grow manifold to $12.5 bn by 2030, from the current size of $1.5 bn. We are targeting the Indian language-speaking populace from Tier 2, Tier 3 & Tier 4 cities which are expected to drive the next growth in the OTT landscape.

Shalimar Productions ended at Rs0.52 apiece up by Rs0.01 or 1.96% on Sensex.
