Division's first navigational cath lab @ G.B.H.

Udaipur: Established the first state-of-the-art cath lab of the Division useful in Interventional Cardiology and Neurology at G.B.H. American Hospital. In this cath lab, with the help of navigation, reaching the blockage place will help perform precise angioplasty. It has been formally started on Monday.

This interventional cardiology and neurology model machine has been imported from the Netherlands. In the presence of Group Director Dr. Anand Jha, Director Dr. Surabhi Porwal, Senior Cardiologist and Cardiac Director Dr. SK Kaushik, Dr. Hitesh Yadav, it was started by duly worshipping and cutting the lace. On this occasion, Dr. SK Kaushik said that this is the next-generation guided therapy platform. It is designed according to the patient. It will be possible to do this cath lab's biggest and most complex procedure. During the process, it will give factual time information on the screen with high-quality images, which will depend on the accuracy of the procedure. Due to the presence of low radiation, radiation exposure to the patient, doctor, and staff will also be greatly reduced. Dr. Hitesh Yadav said that due to its minimized preparation error, the procedure would also take less time due to less preparation after bringing the patient to the cath lab. Having a dynamic coronary road map will also reduce the contrast to the patient, and having the stented bush live will help the patient know the accuracy of the stunt to be performed. On the occasion of Cathlab inauguration, managers of all departments, Cathlab, Neuro, and Cardiac I.C.U. Staff besides all doctors were present.
