South Rajasthan's first All Inside ACL held in Udaipur

Udaipur: To overcome the complex problem of cutting the bone and screwing for an implant in a knee injury operation, recently operated with state-of-the-art All Inside Internal Race technology at GBH American Hospital. After this operation, the patient was taken away with total body weight. Ligament (ACL) grafts are usually done during knee surgery. After this, a button is placed on the top and a screw at the bottom to place the implant. Recently, Tarun Shah (45) was injured in an accident. The family took him to Dr. Gaurav Jain, a bone and joint replacement surgeon at GBH American Hospital. On examination here, it was found that the ligament of his knee was torn. On this, he was given a state-of-the-art All Inside ACL internal brace, and after the operation, he was run with total weight. This technique required cutting a minor bone, and no screws were put in. Up and down buttons were put into operation. The patient was not strapped from the outside. Instead, an internal brace was installed inside, which is not visible from the outside when it is inside. After the operation, the patient was walked at full weight. Simultaneously, the leg was started to 90 degrees immediately afterward, and the patient's knee was bent to 120 degrees by the fifth day. Dr. Gaurav Jain said that this technique is used in international players so that after quick recovery, they can return to the field quickly. This type of operation has been possible for the first time in Udaipur. According to Dr. Gaurav Jain, this has happened for the first time in southern Rajasthan.

Dr. Tarun Bhatnagar from the Department of Anesthesia was an associate with Dr. Gaurav Jain in operation.

Women are the foundation of family, society, and country - Shantakka

Udaipur: History is witness that women are Dharani, Bharani, Tarini and Sangharani. Who can know better than a woman, in what form, in which system, according to the time and circumstance, the best work can be done in the best way? This was stated by Shantakka, the chief operator of Rashtra Sevika Samiti, in the Women's Coordination Milan Program at Guru Tarak Granthalaya, Udaipur.

While explaining the importance of women's role in society and the country, she said that today's time is not of a dormant state, the type in the country. The transition period between good and evil is a war between creative and destructive forces. In this war, women have to play an important role in awakening, organizing, cultivating, and creating a new society by being awake and alert. To face the demonic forces, one has to awaken all her powers.
