39th mass marriage ceremony of Narayan Seva Sansthan

Udaipur. Under the auspices of Narayan Seva Sansthan, the 39th free mass marriage ceremony at Seva Mahatirtha, Badi, 51 couples took a round of the holy fire. They vowed to be with each other for the rest of their lives.

At 10:15 am, the well-dressed grooms performed the traditional Toran ceremony. Under the direction of Bhilwara's Pandit Yogendra Acharya, Shastri Upendra Chaubisa, and Vikas Upadhyay, 51 couples performed Vedic hymns on 51 altars in the huge wedding pandal.

The brides entered the grand stage of the ceremony amidst drums beating. A tradition of Varmala Pragyachakshu Kesari Nandan of Karoli and physically handicapped Urmila from Jharkhand, Pragyachakshu Premchand Meena of Lasadia and Surja Meena, Mahendra Kumar and Kalavati Amaliya (both born blind), who were polio victims of both legs at the age of 3, Satyendra and Jharkhand started with Sunita (both Divyang) in the company of director Vandana Aggarwal and Palak, during this, the pandal kept going through 'applause' for a long time.

Special guests at the function were Urmila Kumari London, Dr. Premrani Single, and Veena Sharma U.S.A., K.K. Gupta was from Dungarpur, and Kusum Goyal was from Mathura.

Sansthan founder Padmashree Kailash 'Manav,' while giving blessings to colleagues and newlyweds in this ritual of Kanyadaan, said that whatever is available to us by God's divine grace makes life meaningful for the suffering and deprived sections of society.

Welcoming the guests and the bride and groom, Sansthan President Prashant Agarwal said that in the last 21 years, the Sansthan had helped 2200 poor and disabled couples to establish a happy home. He told the couples tying the knot in this marriage include Rajasthan, Bihar, Jharkhand, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, and Gujarat.

After the ceremony of Varmala, the bride and groom reached the grand wedding pavilion; during this, some in a wheelchair and some with the help of crutches and calipers reached the altar set for themselves, where they took rounds of the holy fire in the presence of family and religious parents.

This time, according to the motto of mass marriage, 'Jal Hi Jeevan,' the newlyweds were also given a pledge to 'save water' after seven rounds. The institute and guests gave all the new couples gifts. The institute provided each couple with everything required for a new household, including a gas stove, bed, bed, wardrobe, utensils, fan, sewing machine, water tank, chest, etc. Each bride was also presented with a mangal sutra, ear flower, clove, anklet, and groom with the ring, dress, watch, etc.,

sending them off with moist eyes.

Both understood each other's lack - became one.

He is disabled with one hand and the other with his feet, but he never gives up. Keeping their spirits up, both of them completed their B.A. He studied up with Kesari Nandan Sharma, a resident of Toda Bheem, Karauli. Since the age of 6 years, he has been disabled from the waist and left leg. For 26 years, walking from home with the help of a stick, he has made a living selling betel leaves in Ahmedabad. At the same time, the life of Urmila, a resident of Jharkhand, remained the same. When she was four months old, she had a fever, and since then, the hand has become thin and weak due to less blood circulation in the vein of the left hand.

Brother and uncle made both of them meet and got them engaged 3 months ago, but after the death of their father, the situation at home was not such that they could get married. Mother is making a living by sweeping and washing utensils in the neighboring houses. Who and how to get married in such a situation? No hope from anywhere? But God listened to them, and in the 39th mass marriage, both took turns and became companions from birth to birth.

Acharya Devvrat inaugurated 3 newly constructed blocks

Udaipur: On the occasion of the 200th birth anniversary year of Maharishi Dayanand Saraswati, the founder of Arya Samaj, the Governor of Gujarat, Acharya Devvrat, inaugurated three newly constructed blocks in the Navlakha Mahal complex. SK Arya, Chairman of J.B.M. Group, and Ashok Arya, Chairman of Shrimad Dayanand Satyarth Prakash Trust, were present on occasion.

Governor Acharya Devvrat said it is a matter of great fortune for me that the newly constructed Navlakha Mahal Cultural Center by Shrimad Dayanand Satyarth Prakash Nyas in Navlakha Mahal, the holy abode of Maharishi Dayanand Saraswati, has prepared new projects for dedication to the public. Aryavart Chitrdirga, Mini Theater, Got the opportunity to attend the inauguration ceremony of Vedic Sanskar Vithika. It is well known that Navlakha Mahal is the holy workplace where Maharishi Dayanand Saraswati came on the invitation of the then Maharana Sajjan Singh of Mewar and sat here for about six and a half months and completed the love of Satyarth Prakash.

Maharishi Dayanand made revolutionary efforts for the renaissance of Vedic culture. His extreme measures gave a new direction to preventing social evils like child marriage, Sati practice, girl education, widow remarriage, abolition of untouchability, etc. Shrimad Dayanand Satyarth Prakash Nyas is continuously working on further broadcasting the revolutionary efforts of Maharishi Dayanand. Before Arya Samaj received Navlakha Mahal in 1993, there was a liquor warehouse of the Excise Department of the Rajasthan Government that was dilapidated. With the efforts of Sarvadeshik Sabha and Rajasthan Arya Pratidinhi Sabha, the Rajasthan government handed over this building to Arya Samaj in 1993, respecting the spirit of Aryans from all over the world. To beautify/renovate this dilapidated building, the founder and lifetime president of the trust, Swami Tatvabodh Saraswati, donated one crore rupees at that time. The sacrifice of charity. For this, his name has become immortal in history. A grand Yajnasala was built here. Bhamashah of Arya Jagat, Mahashay Dharampal M.D.H. Masala Vale got the Mata Leelavanti Vedic Culture Auditorium constructed with his donation, Sarita, for this I express my heartfelt gratitude to him.

SK Arya said that Navlakha Bhavan is architecturally grand, and here now, for the first time in the world, Vedic quotes/passages have been displayed in visual form so that it is easier for the general public to understand the messages and teachings contained in the Vedas. Here the lives of Lord Rama and Krishna and the life stories of sages and saints are also displayed in grand oil paintings.

Giving information about the gallery displaying the lives of 365 freedom fighters, Ashok Arya said that all these fighters were from different parts of India. Some were from Maharashtra, and some were from Bengal, Odisha, Assam, and Punjab. We have displayed here the lives of these nameless fighters and their selfless contribution to the country's freedom struggle.

He said that the Shrimad Dayanand Satyarth Prakash Trust played a pioneering role in converting the 150-year-old Navlakha Mahal into a museum and motivational center. Some new projects, such as a mini theatre, a cultural gallery, and an inspirational venue, were also built during its restoration work.

All the exterior walls are engraved with attractive paintings, which today provide a pleasant experience to every viewer. Also, life-size statues of Maharishi Agni, Yayu, Aditya, and Angira Rishi have been installed in the Navlakha Mahal complex.
