

Dr. Prabhat Singhal's New Book Series "Adbhut Bharat" Published as a Set of Six Books

Kota: Author and journalist Dr. Prabhat Kumar Singhal's series "Adbhut Bharat," comprising six books covering North India, South India, East India, West India, Central India, and Northeast India, has been published by Sahityagar Publications, Jaipur. These books were meticulously prepared over four years and the manuscripts were sent in April 2023. The books were published in May 2024, after being updated in April 2024.

Dr. Singhal mentioned that the introductory chapter, "Introduction to India," is included in all the books.

This chapter encompasses the history of India, detailing the period from independence to the present, along with updated information on the geographical landscape, and the construction and development of New India. Each book, focused on a specific geographical region of India, includes important facts about history, geography, economy, handicrafts, and culture, with a special emphasis on tourism.

He emphasized that these books, packed with extensive information about India and its states, are indispensable documents for researchers, students preparing for competitive exams, general readers, and tourism enthusiasts. With attractive cover pages, these books are highly collectible and extremely useful for libraries. The facts and information are presented authentically.

Considering their utility, they are available to global readers on Amazon and Flipkart online platforms.

The preface for North and West India was written by Kota-based journalist and advocate Akhtar Khan 'Akela,' for Central India by Kota's literary figure and Senior Section Engineer Railways Anuj Kumar Kuchhal, for South India and Northeast India by Delhi-based author, journalist, and columnist Lalit Garg, and for East India by Kota's literary figure Dr. (Mrs.) Krishna Kumari. The contributions of Gold Medalist in Geography Prof. Pramod Kumar Singhal and tourism enthusiast Anuj Kumar Kuchhal were significant in making these books useful.

With the inclusion of these books, the author has now published a total of 51 books, including 12 edited works. Over 30 books are focused on tourism, art, and culture.

Twelve of the author's books are available for sale in 160 countries through the VSRD, Mumbai platform. Additionally, over 4,000 articles by the author are available on Google.

RMB Udaipur Shines at International Conclave

Udaipur: The RMBF International Conclave, held in Bangalore, saw the RMB Udaipur Chapter, one of three chapters from Rajasthan, winning three prestigious awards, reinforcing its dominance in the country. The BizNXT program included full sessions, keynote speeches, business cluster tracks, panel discussions, meet-the-expert sessions, Q&A sessions, and a marketplace fellowship. Key attractions were the awards, daily networking sessions, and a product showcase.

Naaveen Vaishnav from the Udaipur chapter highlighted that the conclave brought together business leaders, entrepreneurs, policymakers, and industry experts, offering an excellent platform for knowledge exchange and networking. The activities organized by various chapters were highly appreciated, contributing significantly to the event's success. Over 200 business owners from around the world participated, including international directors and members of RMBF from Europe, America, Africa, Mexico, and Nepal.

Karan Garg from RMB Udaipur expressed pride in their remarkable success at the second RMBF International Conclave. This year, RMB Udaipur surpassed the two awards won last year by securing three awards, making it the number one chapter in Rajasthan.

The award winners from RMB Udaipur were:

- NESS Retention Rescuer Award: Dr. Rekha Soni
Board member and former president of the RMB Udaipur Chapter, Karan Garg, represented the chapter at the conclave and accepted all the awards on behalf of RMB Udaipur.

Udaipur Youths Initiate Awareness Campaign

Udaipur: The youth of Udaipur have released a short film addressing the internal battle with demonology, drugs, and depression.

Producer Mukul Khandia explained that the story revolves around a girl named Akanksha, who is grappling with internal struggles. She battles with herself, faces hardships, resorts to drug use, and harbors a fear that the world is against her. Her attitude and jealousy consume her. She is allowed to predict outcomes and make decisions prematurely. She begins to envy others' beauty and happiness, leading to self-harm. She imagines and aligns reality and fantasy to harm an assumed rival (a random, imaginary girl). In the end, it is revealed that she was overtaken and lost to an external force connected to demonology.

Meet the Young Production Team:

The film's producer and writer are Mukul Khandia, with screenplay writers Arshad Qureshi and Mukul Khandia. The main roles are played by Krishna Sharma, Karan Singh Rajpurohit, Riya Nagdev, Umang Soni, Divyansh Dabi, Harsh Dubey, Pranay Pandya, Satish Khokhar, Pramod Raigar, and Kailash Jangid. The project was supported by Ad Astra Production House and Natyansh Society of Dramatic and Performing Arts. The short film, created by Enigma Films, has been well-received by the audience.
