All senior participants were warmly welcomed with shawls by Mr. Kalpesh Chand Rajbar. Mr. Bhawer Seth delivered an emotional address highlighting the vital role of fathers in life, emphasizing their discipline, sacrifices, and lifelong contributions. The event featured poetry recitations by senior citizens, touching the hearts of everyone present and adding a deep emotional layer to the celebration.

A special health awareness session was conducted by expert doctors including Dr. Sanjay Gandhi (CTVS Surgeon), Dr. Ashish Jakheta (Cancer Surgeon), Dr. Pankaj Trivedi (Urologist), Dr. Dilip Jain (Cardiologist), and Dr. Saurabh from Geetanjali Dental. The doctors provided important health tips, answered questions, and emphasized the significance of regular check-ups and alertness in old age.

Dr. Mohit Kumar Badgujar, Hernia Laparoscopic Surgeon, gave a visual presentation of successful surgeries being performed at Geetanjali Hospital, while also introducing the audience to the hospital's advanced technologies.

Mr. Bhawer Seth was felicitated with a Father's Day memento by Mr. Kalpesh Chand Rajbar in recognition of his presence and contribution.

The cultural segment of the program included soul-stirring songs, poetry, and personal stories shared by senior citizens about their fathers and their own journey of fatherhood, creating an emotionally charged and inspiring atmosphere.

The program was hosted by Head of PR, Ms. Harleen Gambhir, who also delivered a heartfelt vote of thanks to all guests, senior participants, and doctors.

This Father's Day event proved to be a meaningful platform that beautifully wove together experience, honor, and heartfelt emotions.

Students Groove to "Namo Namo Shankara" and "Uii Amma"

Udaipur: The grand finale of Genesis 2025, the two-day cultural extravaganza of PIMS Medical College, Udaipur, turned into an electrifying night of rhythm, laughter, and celebration at the Mewar Banquet Hall on Shilpgram Road.

Renowned Bollywood composer and singer Amit Trivedi headlined the closing night, drawing thunderous applause from the audience the moment he took the stage. Students were on their feet, singing along and swaying to his spiritual anthem "Namo Namo Shankara" and the peppy "Uii Amma Uii Amma", which added a devotional yet foot-tapping vibe to the evening.

Trivedi's "Chaudhary", blending Rajasthani folk with modern beats, was met with a euphoric response, turning the venue into a pulsating dance floor. His vibrant stage presence and back-to-back power-packed performances ensured no one left without tapping their feet.

The event also featured a laughter-packed segment with celebrated stand-up comedians Inder Sahani and Walya, who had the audience rolling with laughter. Their comedic timing brought a perfect contrast to the musical high.

Welcoming the guests, PIMS MD Naman Agrawal expressed gratitude and extended best wishes to all attendees. The festival also witnessed performances by Dubai-based superstar DJ Shadow, DJs Swizzl and Kiara, and unique poetic-comedy (Pomedy) presentations by lyricist and storyteller Ranmalsingh Jain.

Every performance was met with cheers, claps, and vibrant hoots, capturing the spirit of youthful enthusiasm and cultural fusion.

The grand night was graced by Chairperson Ashish Agrawal, CEO Sheetal Agrawal, Vice Chancellor Dr. Prashant Nahar, Registrar Dr. Devendra Jain, Principal Dr. Suresh Goyal, Board Member Dr. Bhagwan Das Rai, and several faculty and staff members. The Genesis 2025 fest concluded on a high note, leaving behind unforgettable memories of dance, music, and mirth.

Employee Organization Holds Fellowship Meet, Honors Members

The Mohanlal Sukhadia University Employee Organization (Contract/SFAB), affiliated with Bharatiya Mazdoor Sangh, Udaipur, organized a fellowship program at Shri Tarun Sagar Bhawan Auditorium, Ashok Nagar. Around 200 members of the organization attended the event.

During the program, the organization's patron, Shri Arvind Singh Rao Sahab, was honored with a traditional Mewari turban and stole by the organization's president, Shri Narayan Lal Salvi, and other office-bearers on being appointed as the State President of the Ministerial Employees Council.

The chief guest of the event was Shri Gajpal Singh Rathore, District President, Bharatiya Janata Party. Shri Premshankar Ameta, State Treasurer of the Ministerial Employees Council, and Shri Piyush Sukhwai, District President, were also honored with a turban and stole.

Senior members of the council—Shri Brajesh Mishra, Shri Aditya Pandey, Shri Bhanwar Singh Chauhan, and Shri Narendra Singh Panwar—were also felicitated with a stole.

The program commenced with the lighting of the ceremonial lamp by all dignitaries at the Saraswati Temple. This was followed by the organizational song of Bharatiya Mazdoor Sangh, presented by Shri Bhanwar Singh Chauhan.

Shri Piyush Sukhwai addressed the gathering and shared information about the role and functioning of Bharatiya Mazdoor Sangh. The event was compered by the organization's treasurer, Shri Manish Bansal.

Shri Narayan Lal Salvi, President of the Mohanlal Sukhadia University Employee Organization, highlighted the ongoing issues faced by university employees. These concerns were attentively heard by Shri Gajpal Singh Rathore and other BMS office-bearers, who assured appropriate resolutions from the stage.

Neglected E-Rickshaws, Waste of Funds at MLSU Campus

To promote environmental protection, Mohanlal Sukhadia University (MLSU) had launched electric rickshaws on campus, spending lakhs of rupees. Today, these rickshaws lie abandoned like junk behind the university auditorium. This raises a serious question—who is responsible for this?

What was once showcased through photographs sent to the government as a "pollution-free campus" has now returned to its original polluted state. This is a clear case of government fund misuse. Despite prior requests to revive these e-rickshaws, the condition remains unchanged.

The appeal is to:

- Reinroduce the rickshaws into daily use
- Restore the campus to a clean and smoke-free environment
- Take strict action against those responsible for their neglect
- Ensure that public money is not wasted

Maharana Pratap: Foundation of Miniature Art

Udaipur: Commemorating 450 years of the Battle of Haldighati, Pratap Gaurav Kendra is hosting a week-long celebration featuring a workshop on Mewar miniature painting and ancient scripts. In a discourse at the Padmini Auditorium, Centre Director Anurag Saxena highlighted Maharana Pratap's underappreciated contributions to art, particularly the Chawand style, considered the root of Rajasthani miniature art. He noted its aesthetic use of red and yellow hues and early themes like Ragmala and Brahma-Saraswati.

Art critic Prof. Yugal Kishore Sharma described Mewar miniature style as the "mother" of all Rajasthani painting traditions. He linked it to works like Geet Govind and Bhagavat Purana, and traced the Nathdwara style's origin to Maharana Raj Singh's era. Prof. Ram Singh Bhati, workshop coordinator, shared that both seasoned and emerging artists are participating, including Anandilal Sharma, Chhotu Lal, Pushkar Lohar, and others. The event fosters deep engagement with color theory, compositions, and artistic heritage.
